

stopworkplacedrama ▼

To Whom It Concerns:

As part of my training business, I run a staff development webinar series called Attitude Builders, designed to help busy professionals develop their staff with no prep and no problems. Recently, I booked Scott Carbonara to deliver a webinar session for my members called "8 Steps to Clear Communication." Not only was Scott incredibly informative, with his deep leadership experience coming out through the stories and examples he cited, but he was also very engaging as a speaker. My audience stayed engaged and tuned in to the entire program, and delivered very positive feedback. As a bonus, he is a partner in a communications firm which handled all the administrative details to help promote my event, making it very easy for me. I've since had the opportunity to consult with Scott directly on leadership topics, and find him incredibly deep in his knowledge and experience, while still being very approachable, professional, generous with his time, and easy to work with. As a bonus, his sense of humor makes the work fun! I confidently recommend him as a speaker and leadership consultant.

Sincerely,

Marlene Chism

President, iCarePresentations

marlenechism@mchsi.com

Author, Stop Workplace Drama, www.StopWorkplaceDrama.com