To whom it may concern:

Scott recently presented a Keynote Address on the Theme "Building Relationships" for our Property Managers conference of approximately 200 attendees. I spent time with Scott prior to the conference giving him a feel for the culture of our organization as well as the objectives of our conference. We were extremely pleased with Scott's presentation and in particular how he hit directly on the points we requested. Not only was Scott's speech NOT canned, but it was evident he took the time to study our business and our people. It was gratifying the number of attendees that stopped me to say "he was amazing, inspirational, etc." In terms of meeting our expectations, I can say he absolutely exceeded them. I highly recommend Scott for keynotes or other motivational addresses which are intended to challenge yet inspire the audience.

Sincerely,
